

Academic Excellence from Christ-Centered Traditions

The Frinty

Tony Balistrere, Principal

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

The inaugural year of Berks Catholic is in the books. We will send the Saints of 2012 off into the world to accomplish great things. Amongst the class of 2012; we have students discerning the priesthood and religious life, 96% of them will continue their education in college and collectively they were awarded over $10 million dollars in academic scholarships. We also have students entering the military, technical schools, and exploring gap years involving service.

This class has blazed the trail for many future saints to follow. They have grown spiritually by attending Mass as a community, performing thousands of hours of service, attending retreats and discerning what vocation the Lord is calling them toward. They have grown closer as a Berks Catholic Family by enthusiastically supporting each other at sporting events, music, art and various other competitions.

The entire Berks Catholic community came together for our spring production of "The Sound of Music". Recently over one hundred and fifty Grandparents joined us for Mass, breakfast, and a tour with their grandchildren. Our students have grown academically by competing and winning competitions in math, science and writing. Our students have competed nationally in forensics. Through God, Family and Academics we have had a great deal of Fun doing it all. Our students have encountered Jesus in fun and unique ways through retreats, dress down days, ski trips, clubs, spirit week, and Catholic schools week which culminated in Saints day.

Late in April over 330 students enjoyed a beautiful prom at Stokesay Castle, our sports teams have won division, county, and district titles, and made runs toward state championships. We have had nine athletes sign Division I and II national letters in Basketball, Diving, Lacrosse, Tennis and Volleyball. It has been an amazing year of growth for all involved in the Berks Catholic family.

St. Therese of Lisieux, from her autobiography "The Story of the Soul" states, "For me, prayer is the heart's impulse, a simple gaze toward heaven. It is a cry of gratitude and love, from the depths of trial as well as the heights of joy. Finally it is something great, supernatural, that expands my soul and unites me to Jesus." I would equate this whole year to one long prayer that has been great, supernatural, and has expanded all of our souls in order to bring us all closer to Jesus.

I wish you and your family a safe and blessed summer and I am looking forward to my continued life with the Saints.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAPLAIN

The "Trinity" is now officially the alumni newsletter for the trio of Catholic high schools that it serves. Before June 6, 2012, there wasn't one graduate from Berks Catholic, the offspring of the Central Catholic-Holy Name merger. Now there are 175 who can call themselves BC Alums.

As we completed our inaugural year as Berks Catholic, I must say that it was an honor and blessing for me to be associated with an amazing group: the fine young men and women who comprised the BC Senior Class of 2012! Last August they opened the doors to a high school with a new identity, and they naturally still carried with them the emotions that filled their hearts when it was announced that their respective schools would be closing.

With anger, fear, sadness, and disappointment, these resilient seniors ventured into their homerooms not knowing their classmates sitting right next to them. Yet despite being thrust from their comfort zones, they persevered and made the most of their situation.

Courageously, these seniors demonstrated to the entire BC community their dynamic character and resolve and that they were ready to overcome any adversity. It takes good, mature people with leadership skills and a spirit of determination to endure the challenges and make their diversity their strength. And the first graduating class at Berks Catholic did just that!

Our seniors' faith was tested as well as their strength. But they believed that our God is faithful and does not let us be tried beyond our strength. And they triumphed! They should be very proud of themselves for their amazing accomplishments which includes setting high standards for future senior classes. I hope they realize what a blessing that they were to Berks Catholic and that they will follow your example and continue to make incredible contributions to the communities in which they will live.

To the Berks Catholic Class of 2012, we welcome you and now officially count you among the numbers of the Trinity Alumni!

Welcome to The Trinity

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT: ALEXA DERR

At the age of 7 Alexa Derr started riding horses and now 10 years later she spends much of her time volunteering by mentoring to younger equestrians. Alexa is a junior at Berks Catholic High School and is a Local Honoree for The Prudential Spirit of Community Awards, which honors outstanding community service by young Americans.

Just this year, she was named the president of the Berks Pony Club and teaches at the bi-monthly winter meetings, and the monthly summer, fall and spring meetings. She educates the younger members on all aspects of riding, from horse management to veterinary knowledge to riding techniques. She does this by creating lessons that are enhanced through worksheets, handouts and posters, as well as hands-on (mounted) lessons where the students can apply what Alexa has just taught them. The younger equestrians range from 7 to 13 years-old and are of all different skill levels. Each lesson plan usually takes between 1-3 hours to prepare. At the end of the year the members compete at a Regional Quiz Rally and use the knowledge Alexa has taught them. The first year, she says she was nervous for them as they competed, but it was a happy nervous. After the Quiz Rally, the members she mentored gave her and the Vice President of the Berks Pony Club hugs and smiles and she said "I feel blessed to be a part of that".

Not only does Alexa teach the young equestrians, but she also shows and competes on her own. She placed 11th and 6th at the Dressage at Devon horse show this past year in the three-year-old Suitability and Materiale divisions and last summer she traveled to New York for the Youth Dressage Festival and placed 11th in her age group and division. As a member of the Berks Pony Club, Alexa was named the highest scoring Senior D at the Eastern PA Region Quiz Rally which qualified her for the National Championships in Lexington, KY, and was named highest scoring C rider at Eastern PA Region Dressage Rally. At the United States Pony Club National Championships her and her team placed 11th. She also received the Spirit of Pony Club and the Mentoring awards from Berks Pony Club. Alexa obtained grand champion in Year-End Standings in Dressage for the Oley Valley Combined Training Association and the Susquehanna Valley Horse Show Association on her three-year-old, off-the-track Thoroughbred. This spring Alexa plans to debut her leased FEI Warmblood, Ocarina. In her future, she would like to continue competing and training to advance her skills and hopefully compete on the North American Junior or Young Rider Championship Team.

At Berks Catholic, Alexa is a member of the National Honor Society, has received distinguished honors and first honors, tutors middle school children in math and is a member of the varsity tennis team. This year, she also received a varsity letter in equestrian riding through the USEF High School Athletic Program. She also founded Derriffic Designs, where she hand-stamps and sells various designs of coasters.

Alexa says, "There are three things in my life that bring me endless joy and countless life lessons: training horses, teaching young equestrians and being a mentor."

ALUMNI SPÓTLIGHT: JAMES HAMMER

ames Hammer is a 2004 graduate of Holy Name High School and is in his third year of Graduate school at Auburn University in Alabama studying Combinatorics, which is a branch of Mathematics that students finite or countable discrete structures. Currently James is in the process of being published with a few colleagues and professors in Edge Regular Graphs, and at the same time in the middle of three other research projects. In his spare time (which I'm sure there isn't much of) James is also teaching college level classes at Auburn such as Calculus and Math for Elementary Education.

James found joy in teaching while he was still at Holy Name and a part of the tutoring homerooms. He said being a part of that is "probably one of the things that sparked me to want to be an educator." After Holy Name, he went on to earn his bachelor's degree from Kutztown University. He switched his major three times while at Kutztown. James started out as a Computer Science major, but soon realized that he enjoyed the math courses he was taking, so he switched to Secondary Education in Mathematics. He was a supplemental instructor for an algebra class at Kutztown, and began thinking that he would like to be a college professor instead. So after some encouragement from two professors, he settled on a major in Mathematics and a minor in Philosophy, and graduated from Kutztown University in 2008.

When asked about his favorite memories from Holy Name, James couldn't think of just one, but said "the friends that I met while I was at Holy Name changed my life and continue to influence my life to this day." He remembered the first time he performed on stage with some of his classmates playing Stairway to Heaven by Led Zepplin at the musical revue, and says without the encouragement of his friends both on stage and off he may not have had the courage to get up there.

One very special experience he said was Kairos, and even though he couldn't say too much, he encourages all students to go on Kairos because it is such a worthwhile experience. The other memories James mentioned are the simple every day events, such as lunch time, hanging out with friends before school, and taking a field trip to New York after AP exams. "There are so many things that you'd think you'd forget over time, but it turns out they make all the difference" James stated. While at Holy Name, James was a member of National Honor Society, yearbook, editor of the literary newsletter, played guitar in the choir and intramural bowling.

James noted that he certainly felt prepared for college after Holy Name. "There isn't enough praise I can give to the faculty of Holy Name, as well as Berks Catholic. I know a number of teachers at Berks Catholic, and they are there because they truly believe in Catholic education as well as all of their students as individuals. There are several teachers there that changed my life. I am eternally grateful to all of my teachers from every level of my education."

Advice that he would give to the first graduating class of Berks Catholic is this: "Never lose touch with the friends you've made in high school."

James thank you for being a part of or Alumni Spotlight and we hope you'll visit again when you are in the area! Good luck to you as you complete your graduate work at Auburn University.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT: DR. RICHARD P. FLANNERY

r. Richard P. Flannery, a Central Catholic grad, might well be labeled a "man for all seasons", as in a time span covering over six decades.

In his 14th year as Executive Director of the Berks County Interscholastic Athletic Association (BCIAA) – guiding athletic the athletic programs of Berks County's 18 high schools, Flannery is also president of the PA Sports Hall of Fame (Berks Chapter), in which he was inducted in 1982.

Dr. Flannery is in his third year as president of the Reading-Berks County Regional Holy Society. He serves on the Gethsemane Cemetery Advisory Board (since 1988) and athletically, is a member of the District III Advisory Committee.

Flannery is credited with arranging the high school basketball playoffs to be held Sovereign Center. At that site the BCIAA finals attracted over seven thousand fans in the 2010-11 finals, the highest total in the state. To hold the baseball playoffs at First Energy Stadium was his idea, along with the Reading Phillies director, Chuck Domino. This past season the Berks County vs Montgomery County All-stars competed in the 8th annual inter-county baseball classic, another Flannery creation. During the winter season he initiated the BCIAA individual wrestling tournament involving upwards of 350 athletes.

Dr. Flannery has served as a teacher, coach and principal. He became principal at Boyertown High School when he was named acting-principal in 1972. Two years later he became the principal at Reading High School and was there until 1988. He went on to serve a 5-year stint as principal at Sacred Heart Elementary School and then went on to be Alvernia University's first full-time athletic director and later Dean of Students.

During his athletic career, Flannery won the first Veuzke Relays mile to be named Berks County Champion. For Central Catholic he won 38 mile races in three years for his coach, the late Dr. Ralph M. Mulligan. The highlight of his high school career occurred at Fagan Field in Harrisburg, when he ran a 4:28.7 mile to defeat the New Jersey State Champion.

Dr. Flannery had a 4-year U.S. Navy career and became a 1st Class Petty Officer serving on four different ships. He ran for Oklahoma State and was Missouri Valley Conference runner up in the two-mile (9:28). He later earned administrative credits at Kutztown University, Temple University and the University of Florida.

In amateur basketball he played for 9 teams in 27 years, the highlight being a 92-point single game performance on March 3, 1966. He won 17 scoring titles in Berks and Montgomery Counties over the years.

The 1971 Educator of the Year – so name by the Valley Forge Freedom's Foundation, once scored 45 points against the Philadelphia Eagles football team as a member of Boyertown High School's faculty in 1968. That same year Boyertown's teachers hosted the Philadelphia Whiz Kids (Robin Roberts, Bobby Schantz, Curt Simmons and 'ringer' Paul Arizin-the 2-time NBA scoring champ). During that game Arizin had 33 points, while Flannery scored 34.

He coached Boyertown's track and cross country teams for over a decade compiling a combined 132-22 record, including five Ches-Mont titles in cross country. He led the Bears to 53 straight dual meet victories in cross country in the five years – a record that still stands.

Dr. Flannery is the father of five children, four are in education, one is a principal. His wife Lois serves as treasurer for the BCIAA. We all look forward to the days when Dr. Flannery stops by to visit Berks Catholic High School!

The Story of Berks Catholic High School

Two schools. 118 years of history. One big decision.

Nestled less than five miles apart in Reading, Pennsylvania, Central Catholic and Holy Name high schools spent the last half-century as friendly but passionate rivals.

The relationship's roots go back even further: The two student bodies originally were one when Central Catholic opened in 1940 in a converted, allegedly haunted, mansion formerly owned by the inventor of Luden's cough drops.

When the student body was split in 1964 to create Holy Name, the schools began to carve distinct identities, their students cultivating traditions that have been passed through generations. Then, in early 2011, everything changed.

The diocese announced that both schools would close, and the two student bodies again would become one.

In the Company of Saints details the schools' histories, the decision to close them, the painful end to two sets of traditions and the first steps toward
